

FOG Design+Art.
PHOTO: COURTESY OF NIKKI RICHTER

IN PARTNERSHIP WITH FOG DESIGN+ART

Here's What Not to Miss at This Year's FOG Design+Art in San Francisco

From stunning light fixtures from Nilufar Gallery's Maximilian Marchesani to R& Company's celebration of women designers

BY GALERIE EDITORS
JANUARY 10, 2023

Taking place at San Francisco's Fort Mason Center, galleries across the globe are flocking to exhibit their latest wares at this year's FOG Design+Art, one of the leading platforms in showcasing the best of contemporary works. Below, we've compiled a list of events and exhibitors not to miss during this spectacular fair, which takes place from January 19 to 22.

Family 12 ceiling lamp by Maximilian Marchesani.
PHOTO: DANIELE LODICE

1. Nilufar Gallery

For this year's showcase, the Milan gallery is exhibiting works by some of the most notable names in the design industry. For one part, works by pioneers of Brazilian design from the 1950s and '80s, such as Lina Bo Bardi, Jose Zanine Caldas, Giancarlo Palanti, and others will be on display. On the contemporary side, the gallery is debuting its latest portfolio addition, designer Maximilian Marchesani, alongside other represented talents including Martino Gamper, Bethan Laura Wood, and Lola Montes Schnabel.

Teresa Hastings, Not Me, (2022).
PHOTO: COURTESY OF SARAH MYERSCOUGH GALLERY

2. Sarah Myerscough Gallery

In order to show the connection between design and nature, the London gallery presents "The Natural Room II," where sustainable materials such as wood, jute, sisal, willow, and stoneware create otherworldly works. Among the artists exhibited are Teresa Hastings, Nic Webb, March Fish, and Luke Fuller.

Bernd & Hilla Becher Coal Bunkers, (1965-98).
PHOTO: ESTATE BERND & HILLA BECHER, REPRESENTED BY MAX BECHER; COURTESY SPRUETH MAGERS

3. Sprüth Magers

Coinciding with the upcoming survey at the San Francisco Museum of Art, the gallery presents a selection of photographs by German artists Bernd and Hilla Becher. Widely considered two of the most influential German artists, Belchers' photographed forms consisting of water towers, gas tanks, and grain elevators reflect nostalgic perspective.

Pamela Weir-Quiton, Pamela Girls Little Dolls in wood, (1980).
PHOTO: TIFFANY SMITH; COURTESY OF R & COMPANY

4. R & Company

In addition to works by represented artists including ceramicist Roberto Lugo as well as designers Rogan Gregory and Hung Chung Lee on display, R & Co presents a series of works celebrating California women designers. In extension of their current New York exhibition "Born Too Tall: California Women Designers, Postwar to Postmodern," works by the likes of Wendy Maruyama, Arline Fisch, and Pamela Weir-Quiton will be explored as a testament to how they broke boundaries within the industry.

In addition to an impressive roster of galleries, a number of talks and panels will be taking place over the three days of the fair. Among the highlights include a discussion on Edward Hopper presented by Christie's as well as a special panel which brings together two renowned Bay Area artists. Find the full list of events here.

FOG Design+Art runs January 19 to 22 in San Francisco.

MORE FROM GALERIE

ART + CULTURE
The Artful Life: 5 Things Galerie Editors Love This Week

ART + CULTURE
7 Key Milestones from Gaetano Pesce's Remarkable Career

ART + CULTURE
8 Must-See Museum Exhibitions Around the World This Winter

ART + CULTURE
The Ultimate Art Lovers' Guide to Puerto Rico

Live artfully with curated stories straight to your inbox

Sign up for the Galerie newsletter

YOUR EMAIL

YOUR EMAIL

Sign up to receive our newsletter

LiveArtfully

